About the Conference

On behalf of Foster Research Organizing Committee, we are delighted to invite you over a three-day “Global Research Conference on Emerging Infectious Diseases” (GRCEID2024) scheduled to take place on August 29-31, 2024 in Kuala Lumpur, Malaysia, promises to be an exceptional event for researchers, scientists, and healthcare professionals. This conference aims to bring together experts from around the globe to discuss about the Emerging Infectious Diseases, the leading cause of death worldwide, continue to pose difficult challenges to clinicians, public health professionals, and biomedical researches in academic settings and industry.

The conference will feature in-depth discussions on various aspects of infectious diseases, including epidemiology, pathogenesis, diagnostics, and treatment strategies. Attendees can expect a diverse range of topics and presentations that delve into the forefront of infectious diseases. Renowned keynote speakers and panelists will share their expertise, providing insights into emerging challenges and innovative solutions.

The conference will provide a platform for networking and collaboration, facilitating meaningful exchanges among professionals from different disciplines and backgrounds. Attendees will have the opportunity to engage in interactive sessions, poster presentations, and workshops, fostering the exchange of ideas and the establishment of new research collaborations.

We are looking forward to see you at GRCEID2024.

Sincerely,

GRCEID2024 Scientific Organizing Committee
